Arabi to Have the Help of 60,000 Bloody Bedouins.

Rumored Capture of a Garrison—De Lesseps as a Disturber—The Rebellious Bey in Prophetic Robes.

Associated Press Afternoon Dispatches.]

PORT SAID, July 31.—Reports from the interior say the Bedouins, who first favored the Khedive, have gone over to Arabi and will furnish him 60,000 men. De Lesseps is making a great deal of trouble here, opposing foreign measures. He addressed a crowd of Arabi's supporters in terms hostile to England and France. As a result, the English, French and Germans have abandoned the intention of landing, lest disturbances follow.

ALEXANDRIA, July 31.—To-day the Khedive's Cabinet issued a proclamation declaring that the rebel Arabi has assumed the turban and robes of a descendant prophet.

An unconfirmed report prevails that the garrison of Aboukir has surrendered to the British.

WASHINGTON.

A Question of Politics and Postage to be Investigated.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A Portland, Maine, newspaper of the 26th inst. states that one of Hubbell's assessment circulars received at that city, assessing Government officials, was conveyed from Washington in a Government envelope without the payment of postage, as Hubbell and other signers of the circular are members of the House of Representatives and Senate. Inquiry into the facts of this charge has been made under a privileged question as to whether or not any member of the House or Senate can move to have the matter investigated. A resolution will be introduced into the House on the first opportunity instructing the Committee on Reform in Civil Service to investigate the facts alleged, and inquire whether official envelopes or stamps for official business can be used by any member of Congress for other than official business, with power to send for persons and papers.

PACIFIC SLOPE NEWS.

The Sonoranians Want Gen. Crook—A Rich Mine Shut Down.

TUCSON, July 31.—A Guaymas dispatch of the 22d says: The Minas Prietas has shut down owing to litigation and about two hundred men are thrown out of employment. This mine is one of the best in the State of Sonora, producing $40,000 of gold bullion monthly. Capt. Budd Smith, Consul at San Palos, State of Jalisco, has been visiting Consul A. Willard here. He left on the Mexico to-day for San Francisco. The peacefulness of the State since the inauguration of Carlos Ortez has been exceptional in the past history of Sonora, and foreign capital is being heavily invested, and other enterprises are showing that there seems to be a feeling that revolutions are at an end. The people of Sonora are rejoiced to know that Gen. Crook is to assume command of military affairs in Arizona, and they feel that it means the extermination of the Apaches.

ARIZONA'S GOVERNOR HAS A SPEECH SERENADED OUT OF HIM.

A STARTLING RUMOR.

Apprehended Loss of an Atlantic Steamer.

CHICAGO, July 31.—A special dated last night from Boston says that the steamer Stanford, licensed to carry six hundred passengers, left this port for Plymouth this morning at 10 o'clock, with nearly a thousand on board. She should have reached her destination at 1:30 o'clock, but did not arrive until 4 P. M. She was so heavily loaded that one of her guards was all weighed down. The passengers were so frightened that 250 of them chartered a special train on the Old Colony Railroad and came up that way, refusing to return by boat. The Stanford was to leave Plymouth at 8 P. M., in which case she would not arrive here before 11:30. Great excitement was caused to-night by a rumor that she had been lost. The report probably arose from an imperfect knowledge of the facts just stated, and it is believed that it is untrue.

[NIGHT REPORT.]

AT THE CAPITAL.

The Grant Retirement Bill in Good Shape.

Other Proceedings in Congress—A Court of Inquiry into the Loss of the "Jeannette" to be Convened.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—In the Senate Ferry's resolution was referred, directing the Committee on Pensions to report a bill granting a pension to those who lost a leg or arm in the service, The Naval Appropriation bill was taken up. The vote began at 3 P. M.

Butler's amendment was adopted, requiring the Secretary of the Navy to report to Congress which of the condemned vessels are unfit for use, and to sell them. Vance failed to get his amendment, allowing foreign steel to be used in the construction of the two new cruisers. The vote was 29 to 21. Morgan, Gorman and Brown voted "No" with the Republicans.

The Senate passed the Naval Appropriation bill without taking a yea and nay vote. After the transaction of some other business, Allison called up the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill.

The following Senate bills were passed. The bill to provide for the disposition of the Fort Larned Military Reservation. The Senate bill for the retirement of Ulysses S. Grant, late General and ex-President of the United States, having been reached, McKenzie moved it be laid on the table. Lost—yeas 77, nays 83. The bill was then referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

NAVY MATTERS.

In the Senate the advisability of empowering the Secretary of the Navy to close useless navy yards and transfer the perishable stores and property to other yards, and require him to report the facts in each case to Congress, was discussed at much length. Bayard moved to strike out the item as amended. The motion prevailed. The appropriation for the payment of labor in equipping vessels, etc., in navy yards was increased $50,000, making the total $75,000. Plumb moved to insert a proviso repealing all laws providing for the promotion and increase of pay on the retired list. Agreed to after assurance that the proviso would not be retroactive. The bill as reported to the Senate, and all amendments made in Committee of the Whole were concurred in except one offered by Beck, reducing the appropriation for finishing the Miantonomah and other iron-clads from $1,000,000 to $400,000, and stopping further proceedings under the contract of March 3d, 1877.

Miller, of California, moved to fix the number of lieutenants at 200, instead of 220. Not agreed to, 24 to 33. Bayard moved to strike out authority giving the Secretary of the Navy discretion to place officers, when not at sea, on furlough, as well as on leave of absence or waiting orders. The part relating to furlough pay was, on motion, adopted, 27 to 26. The bill was then passed on a viva voce vote.

NEW VENEZUELAN COMMISSION.

In the House, Rice, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, reported a joint resolution for a new mixed Venezuelan commission. Referred to the Committee of the Whole. The minority will file a report.

Harris reported back the joint resolution instructing the Secretary of the Navy to convene a court of inquiry on the loss of the Jeannette. Calendar.

ALEXANDRIA, July 31.—A traveler just arrived from Sionble reports that Arabi Pasha issued a manifesto declaring that Khedive Tewfik has sold Egypt to the British and retired to England. A GREAT FIRE

Destroys New York Mills and Tenement Houses.

Fifteen Houses Burned and Five Hundred Workmen Burned Out—Serious Loss of Life and Property.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Hecker & Co.'s great flour mills were burned to-day. The five hundred men employed had all escaped. It is believed there may, however, be some lives lost. It is not known where the fire started, or how. The tenement buildings adjoining were soon a mass of flames rising one hundred feet above the roof. The heat drove the tenants into the tenement houses across the street, and then the flames devoured the houses with all the goods in a brief period. Fifteen houses were in flames. The fire extended from 194 Cherry street up to several houses beyond Pike street. The flour mill walls fell in, killing two firemen, and it was then learned that four factory hands had perished in the flames, and it was reported that a number of those residing in tenement houses, across the street, had been burned. The dead loss cannot be under a million dollars. The spice and flour mills of Sawyer, Zeers & Fisher were also burned. There is no confirmation of the report that six lives were lost. One fireman was seriously hurt and two others overcome by the heat. George V. Hecker says the stock and machinery was worth $400,000, the building $200,000—all is a total loss. The insurance will cover all losses.

ON THE WAR-PATH.

New Mexico Hostiles on a Raid—Troops in Pursuit.

LORDSBURG, N. M., July 31.—A large band of Indians crossed the Gila river yesterday morning, four miles below Richmond, making for the Stein mountains. Lieutenant Geary, with a company of the Sixth Cavalry, and Indian scouts, is following the trail. These Indians stole twenty-one head of horses at Mule Springs on the 28th. They had abandoned and killed nine head before reaching the Gila. It is believed that this band is only a scout from a larger band traveling in the same direction. It is reported that the hostiles are concentrating in force southeast of Whitlock Cienega. About two-thirds of the freighters on the route between Lordsburg and Clifton have drawn off, believing it unsafe to travel the road. The Detroit Copper Mining Company, situated on the old trail from San Carlos to Mexico, and about six miles below Clifton, has been compelled to shut their smelter down, being unable to obtain teamsters to haul their ore. Mr. Church, the Superintendent, has attempted to obtain from the Military Commander suitable protection for his reduction works, but without success.

A Decision for the Southern Pacific Railroad.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—In the United States District Court to-day Justice field read an opinion denying the motion to remand the case of the county of San Mateo vs. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company to the State Court. This is one of the tax cases. The opinion holds that no one can be arbitrarily taxed upon his property in comparison with adjacent property, and all State enactions infringing this rule must give way to it. The property of corporations is equally protected under the law with that of the private individual. The action is clearly within the province of the United States Courts to adjudicate. It was announced that this decision applies to all similar cases.

WHAT SHALL THE SLOGAN BE?

As the time nears for the holding of the Republican State Convention, the issues on which the impending political battle must be fought begin to crystallize. What shall the slogan be? The contest will be, as it ought to be, something more than a mere scramble for the offices. There never was a better opportunity than the present for the display of political wisdom—in other words, political common sense—on the part of the Republican leaders; and there never was greater need for such display.

In order that the Convention may be enabled to rise to the magnitude of the occasion, the delegates who are to compose it should be the deliberate and intelligent choice of the people—the honest choice of honest Republicans. This is merely another way of saying that the people, and not the political prostitutes, should select the delegates. If the latter class do it, defeat follows; for self-respecting Republican masses have ceased to follow unworthy leaders. If the former class do it, victory will be the result; for Republican sentiment has almost invariably proved itself to be in the ascendant in California in a fair contest, wherein the right has been steadily kept uppermost.

If the delegates to be selected be men of action, skilled in practical politics, and at the same time men thoroughly in accord with the honest, enlightened, advanced sentiment of the times; and, above all, if they be men who possess the confidence of their respective constituencies, we shall have very high hopes of the result of their work in the Convention.

Let the party leaders, looking backward over the conflicts of the past in California and the Nation, remember that whenever the party has fallen below the high standard of radical principle established in the minds of the Republican masses, (for the masses are in fact radical, and believe that the party cannot be too radical when it is right,) defeat has been the result—sometimes inglorious defeat. And, conversely, whenever the party has placed itself upon the high plane of brave devotion to its convictions, it has either won gloriously, or come nearer to victory than it has ever done when a policy of mere truckling expediency has been pursued. Half-way measures generally end in less than half-way success: they are more often utter failures. The people, who care little for the offices, but everything for sound measures and good government, will not tolerate timidity, temporizing or double-dealing. They will demand of the Convention clear-cut, unequivocal utterances upon the living issues of the day—a declaration of principles that shall mean something, and not be a mere lot of "words, words," susceptible of tortuous twisting to suit the wants of crooked partisans.

If national politics were to enter into the coming contest, there need be no difficulty before the Convention. The Republicanism of Lincoln and Garfield—the Republicanism which has won in so many of the grand contests of the past—the Republicanism which crushed the Great Rebellion, saved the Union, freed the slave, and exalted the Republic among the nations of the earth, is a good enough rallying-cry for all Republicans of to-day. It is a plane upon which Republicans of all shades of opinion can unite. Go before the people proclaiming those grand ideas and lofty principles which have so often stirred the hearts of men and roused their enthusiasm, and the result would not be doubtful.

But State issues are of course paramount in the pending campaign. There are enough of them on which to lay down the gage of battle. The Democratic party leaders of California, in San Jose Convention assembled, formally put themselves on record as willing nullifiers of a law of the commonwealth framed to secure the decent and orderly observance of the Christian Sabbath—a law solemnly pronounced constitutional by the highest judicial authority of the State—a law of especial benefit to average good citizens, who require and demand one day out of seven for rest and recuperation. The Sunday law is pre-eminently the poor man's law. Once let Sunday be abolished (and the Democratic anti-Sunday-law plank means just that) and the ever-insidious encroachments of capital upon the rights of labor will go on until, in time, little by little, grasping employers will come to boldly and of right demand of their workmen seven days, toil as a regular thing. This is the logical and inevitable drift of Democratic doctrine and practice.

Let the Republicans take square issue with their retrograding opponents upon the proposition to repeal the Sunday law, and the people of California will take care of the result. When that great army of victorious men and women who toil with their hands come to comprehend the full meaning of the law-defying policy through and by which the Democratic leaders are shamelessly seeking to destroy this old bulwark of Christian civilization, the toilers will revolt;—and they are a power in the land.

The deceptive and uncertain attitude in which many of the San Jose Convention candidates stand towards the great corporations that have for years been burdening the industries of the State with almost intolerable burdens—corporations which the Democratic party so loudly claims to antagonize—makes the Republican opportunity, and imposes a high and imperative duty upon the Republican Convention. The people call for positive relief from monopoly exactions: the Republican party is the party to give that relief. It should declare, in language not susceptible of a double interpretation, that it is the people, not the corporations, who own the State. The people, through the Convention, should proclaim their determination that, while denying no just and lawful privilege to the corporations, and invading no vested right of their's, those corporations shall be forced to let go their grip upon California's throat, and be henceforth content with no more than their fair share of the proceeds of the common toil. No issue in State politics transcends in importance this burning one of anti-monopoly.

Let the Republican managers bear in mind, also, that the people demand that the candidates to be nominated shall be first of all honest, impartial, and clean-handed, as well as competent for the efficient discharge of the duties of the respective offices to which they aspire. They should, moreover, be worthy exponents of Republican principles, and men of practical affairs, who are known to the people and "solid with the masses." It would be folly for the Convention to yield to the clamors of unknown aspirants or chronic office-seekers—to weaklings of any sort. That numerous class must be made to understand that they are not wanted by the Republican party of California as candidates. Every Republican and patriot will be willing to sink his personal ambitions and unite on the common ground of Republican unity for the achievement of a common triumph.

With profound respect for the superior wisdom of the gray heads of the party, yet speaking from the standpoint of plain people, we submit these ideas to the consideration of the veteran leaders, asking them to never forget that victory in the coming conflict is a necessity and a duty, and that defeat would be a blunder and a crime.

A SITE for the proposed Veterans' Home has not yet been selected. We suggest to the managers that they look southward. Here they will find a genial clime, wherein the intrepid and decrepid warriors may enjoy their few remaining years upon earth. Here they will require the minimum of firewood, and can have the maximum of sunshine, to warm the thinned blood in their veins. May we trust that the old boys will "grin and bear it," and do their best to hold their grip on life, while the aforesaid procrastinating managers are deliberating upon their future?

We desire to respectfully remind our complaining cotemporary, the Evening Express, and "its Los Angeles readers," as well as all whom it may concern, that the TIMES long since published, from the "Official Register of the Army of the United States," the military record of General George Stoneman, Democratic nominee for Governor of California. Will the Express undertake to say that that account is "garbled," "distorted," and "even false"?

TIMES readers will this morning, and hereafter, find all the telegraphic news conveniently grouped together, under appropriate headings and sub-headings, on the first page; miscellaneous and commercial matter, etc., on the third page; and local news on the fourth page. This arrangement, we are confident, will be found very acceptable to both readers and advertisers, as soon as they "get the hang of the barn," so to speak.

IT is said of of Edward C. Marshall, Democratic candidate for Attorney General, that he has been on so many sides of the political fence during his checkered career, that he resembles the son of Judge Underwood, of Georgia. The father said of the son, when asked what were his hopeful's politics: "I do not know; I have not seen him since morning."

"The Heathen Chinee: His Virtues, Vices and Crimes," is the title of a thick pamphlet, written by an "Old Californian," and published in New York. We have received a copy. It is luridly illustrated. The author writes as though he had ample personal knowledge of his Celestial subject.

THE TIMES is under obligations to its numerous local and other correspondents. We desire them to continue sending their favors, requesting at the same time that they cultivate brevity, timeliness, clearness and accuracy; remembering, too, that news is of the first consideration, opinions of secondary importance.

THERE is hope for the bald-heads. A servant of Mr. Stevens, a British Consul, restored the hair to his bald head by simply rubbing his oily fingers on his poll after trimming kerosene lamps. This is an oleaginous fact of much importance.

THE people of California are in the toils of the monopoly—surrounded by the cohorts of the railroad, as it were; but they will never surrender. Unlike the hero of Macon, they will cut their way out.

THE alliterative head-line fiend of the San Jose Mercury ornaments an article on "The Springs" with the caption, "Salubrious and Soulful Sibillations," and then goes off happy.

ESTEE's boom is being boomed by a number of State papers.

South Coast Items.

A town is being started on the railroad near the head of Temecula Canyon to be called Temecula.

The railroad is making things quite lively in the northern part of Santa Barbara county, and track-laying towards Los Alamos will soon be commenced.

The Santa Barbara District Camp Meeting of the M. E. Church will be opened to-morrow morning, at Tucker's Grove, near Goleta, and will continue ten days.

Some astonishingly new and marvelous reports are received in town about the rich discovery of gold in Holcomb Valley—also of a rich copper discovery made near Pinacarte, by George Roberts.—San Bernardino Index.

MEN AND WOMEN.

Hon. F. L. Freeman, of Yolo, declines being a candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

Hon. Grove L. Johnson, State Senator from Sacramento, will probably be a candidate for re-election to the Senate.

A. I. McDonald has been appointed Superintendent of the Bullion Mining Company, in place of P. A. Humbert, resigned.

George E. McStay, Chief Clerk of the Assembly of the last Legislature, is a candidate for Secretary of State on the Republican ticket.

Major A. H. Nickerson, recently retired from active service of the Government, has determined upon trying his luck in journalism.

J. H. Jewitt, the Marysville banker, authorizes the statement that under no circumstances will he be a candidate for Governor this year.

Hon. Chas. F. Reed, of Knight's Landing, says he will clear $100,000 on his wheat crop this year, raised from 6000 acres of reclaimed swamp land.

A young gentleman bachelor wants to know why this world without woman would be like a blank sheet of paper. Another answers, because it would not even be ruled.

A personal friend of Gen. Hancock says he would not accept the Democratic nomination for the Presidency if it were tendered him. He would doubtless regard it as a local issue.

Dr. Dio Lewis, the oatmeal orator, has written a book about his travels and observations in the Sierras. The party with which he made the explorations contained some ladies who rode horseback, man fashion, and cannot now be induced to use a side-saddle.

A contemporary says of the late General Skobeleff, that he was a rather handsome man, with broad forehead, good chin, well shaped head, impressive moustache and a full-lipped mouth. Before he was thirty-three years of age he was the hero of Plevna and the conqueror of the Tekke-Turcomans.

Congressman Thomas L. Young, of Ohio, is confident that the Republicans will not suffer any in the Congressional contests in that State, whatever may happen to the State ticket. The election of Congressmen this year, he thinks, means more than mere success to the candidates. It means the success of the Presidential ticket in 1884.

General Irwin McDowell, commanding the Military Division of the Pacific, will be retired in October under the new law, and it is generally understood that Gen. Schofield will succeed him. Gen. Sherman will be retired in February, 1884, Gen. Sheridan in 1895, Gen. Hancock in March, 1890, Gen. Schofield in 1895, Gen. John Roper in July, 1886, Gen. Howard in 1894, Gen. Terry in 1891, Gen. Christopher C. Auger in August, 1885, and Gen. Crook in 1892.

POLITICAL POINTS.

"Free whisky and no Sunday!" is the slogan of the Democratic party in the coming campaign; in other words, "Hurrah for hell!"—San Jose Mercury.

"The very best men for office" is the slogan of the Republican party this year. No mistake must be made. Take warning from the pitfall into which the Democracy has been plunged.—Oakland Tribune.

The Examiner has become a stoker of the railroad. Begrimed with smut and reeking with sweat, it runs its dreary round, enveloped in clouds of its own creating, nearly suffocated, but still kicking and frothing.—Oakland Tribune.

The Stockton Mail, by no means Republican, says: "On general principles we don't go much on a man of Stoneman's wealth who will descend to solicit a free pass, instead of paying his fare and asking no odds of anybody, the same as any other traveler.

He [Stoneman] is a monumental iceberg—cold and repellant. The people will not rally around him. Even his most earnest Democratic supporters, partaking of his lack of military spirit, seem to act just as though they would like to surrender to somebody.—San Jose Mercury.

The Oakland Independent, furiously Democratic, admits that: "If the Republicans nominate well-known anti-monopoly candidates for Railroad Commissioners and members of the Board of Equalization, they will elect some of them. The nominees of the Democratic party for these positions do not give general satisfaction, and the dissatisfaction weakens the head of the ticket.

The Meriden Mercury, Miss., a Bourbon paper, says: "The Fourth of July is a day for the Yankees and negroes in the South to celebrate; but it has lost its significance for us. To us the buzzard is a fitter emblem of the filthy Government that makes fellow-citizens of people of African descent, and to the utmost of its power now puts them above white men."

SNATCHES OF SONG.

BY MRS HARRISON GRAY OTIS.

A soft cloud lay on the mountain top,
White as a bed of lillies in bloom,
I thought 'twas watching for me—was it not?
As lightly I stole in and out of my room.

Strange little cloud! The gleam of an oar
It seemed that I saw, then the spread of a wing;
Then out from the Somewhere overhead
Flashed the soul of a baby seraphim.

Then I opened my eyes—I had been asleep
In the golden light of the sunny day—
But a dimpled baby, fair and sweet,
Had come to a glad home over the way.

What lies beyond your awful verge,
O ice-bound seas, where ships go down;
Where beats for aye the angry surge
Beneath thy Alp-like iceberg's frown?

What lights the blazing spectral fires
That flame against thy northern skies?
Ah, frozen seas and ice-wrought pyres
Guard well thy fateful mysteries.

Have you not heard the story of the land
That lies warm in the old earth's heart? A fair
Sweet summer-land—a world cradled in the World's lap, with gateway at the pole, through whose
Wide space, o'er path of shining waters, lit
By the brightness of electric suns, vast
Fleets might sail, and in that inner world, fanned
By soft summer airs, drift past wide continents,
And glorious isles that star the under
Seas? Out from that mighty portal, wide as
The great world's surface, round the far end of
Its vast axis laid, streams the electric
Flood, till all the outer skies, lit by the Auroral lights, blaze forth a beacon for
The world.
Let Fancy spread her sails; her ship will pass
Swift through the ice-seas, sailing northward still
To that far region of the midnight sun,
Where the still waters of the under sea
Lave with soft ripples all the silver sands
Of those strange shores, and laugh in ecstasy,
Tossing white arms of spray
'Round the green mosses that like emeralds sit
Within a rocky rim, gleam on the borders of the Sapphire seas that catch the midnight's gold and violet,
And crimson glory of the sinking sun,
Which, resting on the threshold of the coming day,
For one brief moment shuts his eyelids down;
Then lo! the Morning, with her shining crown
Of light, upon the hilltops stands,
And with her smile sets dimples on the seas.

And here our eyes shall see fair cities rise
And peoples strange walk on those wondrous shores,
And palm-trees wave beneath the sunlit skies;
And maidens, with fair faces like the snow
Just touched with kisses of the sunset light,
With locks like woven sunbeams falling low
In shining ripples to their dainty feet,
Upon the pebbly beach walk to and fro
With young Appollos kingly to the sight.
And all the air is filled with song of birds,
That rest like golden blossoms mid the trees,
Or flash like rubies o'er the shining blue
Of the still lakes that sleep erewhile the breeze
Forgets to blow. The gardens of Hesperides,
With all the golden fruitage of their boughs,
Were not as fair as these beneath the skies
Of the Aurora land about the pole.

Here clear, warm rivers shine, and as they roll
With murmurous music to the ocean flood,
Their banks are fragrant as the spicy isles,
And 'mid the groves of banyan and of date
Rise palace walls, and shining fountains play,
And sculptured marble stands, as if the gods
Had hid among the trees; and royal arches rise,
And temples with their spires of gold
And shining crosses. There is the sound of Bells all silver-tongued, and melody of
Music, and happy childhood's faces like
White lilies mid the grasses, and dimpled
Hands like pure soft snow-flakes touch the flowers.
The hills rise to grand heights as whispering
To the stars. The moon peers through the
Leafy boughs of the tall trees
As it were cradled in the emerald
Of their whispering leaves. Like shimmering
Silver from the lovely rocks drops many
A laughing waterfall, and brooks sing
An echo of the wild bird's song.
The sunlit seas are white with many a
Sail freighted with rare spices and untold
Odorous sweets, rich silks and jeweled treasures.
Here lies Edona's lovely vale and
Viva's fountain flows, leaping in laughter
To the bending skies. The outer earth,
Smitten and scarred by wrong, finds here no
Counterpart. It is the Beulah Land, the
Fair Utopia of our dreams: all shadowless,
Lying upon the borders of the realms
Of peace.

TWIN SISTERS.

Comparisons and Contrasts Between Florida and California.

To the Editor of the Times:

A copy of the Florida Dispatch, lying on my desk, a paper published by the Ashmead Brothers, Jacksonville, brings to mind the fact that Florida and California are the twin sisters of Uncle Sam, separated, to be sure, by a long distance, but having many points of similarity. First, they have both been obtained from the Spanish, the relics of whose civilization, language and customs still remain as a fringe to the social life of the inheritors. Then, too, both claim an unexceptionable climate; both are sparsely settled; both are rich in undeveloped possibilities; both are washed by the ocean, and both are hungering for the rich pulmonary exile. ["Hungering for the rich pulmonary exile" is good, very good.—ED. TIMES.] But while there are these similarities, the contrasts are probably more emphatic. In crossing Florida, from Fernandina to Cedar Keys, I noted that the greatest altitude we reached was 150 feet in the whole distance of 150 miles, while in going from east to west in California one can hardly travel fifty miles without crossing elevations from 2500 to 8000 feet. If the contrast in the make-up of the land is so great, the contrast in the matter of water is equally as great. There they have broad rivers, swamps and lakes, a spring which throws out water enough to create a navigable stream from the start.

Florida, besides its waters from under the earth, has its perpetual irrigation from the sky: and a variety of trees which makes one ashamed of the iteration of live oak and button-ball of Southern California. Both States however, are busy in planting orange groves, and in the paper before me I find advertisements of books on orange culture, of insect exterminators, of orange trees and orange plantations, as also of Italian bees and American silk worms. Perhaps an advertisement of "ginger roots" may be a suggestion worth something to some one in your bailiwick. Tallahassee claims that "the orange trees are rapidly recovering from the freeze of '80 and '81." The list of fruits claimed to be grown include only one not seen in California, viz: pine-apples.

The advertisement of rates on water melons, in car loads, proves that the railroads are not quite so tyrannical as in California, for they will take a car load of 20,000 pounds from Jacksonville to Philadelphia for $100. This rate, ½ cent per pound, seems quite liberal, especially when we consider the distance. Florida has one advantage in being situated so close to the largest markets of the continent. PUL. EX.

It Isn't Policy!

To the Editor of the Times:

Are we now to understand that the executive officers of this county do refuse to see the laws against gambling enforced? For some time the press of this city has been giving publicity to the fact that nearly every species of gambling known to the professional "thug" is every Sunday conducted upon the streets and in the saloons of Santa Monica, and still the game goes on. The officers of Los Angeles county can not be ignorant of this fact. Why, then, is it not summarily stamped out? It may be that the law cannot be enforced, but we believe that it can be, and until some effort shall be set forth on the part of the proper officer to protect the community from this standing insult to public morals and common decency, the people have the right to think that the power behind is stronger than the power upon the throne. IN MEMORIAM.

Rev. J. W. Ellis' Eulogy on the Late Dr. C. C. Barton.

The remains of Dr. Charles Churchill Barton, who died at Pasadena, Tuesday, July 25, 1882, were buried from the residence of Rev. J. W. Ellis in this city on Thursday following.

The deceased was a native of Brooklyn, New York, where he was born October 4, 1847. He was a graduate of the Belleview Medical College of New York, and a student under the celebrated surgeon, Lewis A. Sayer, of that city. He entered upon a very heavy practice immediately after completing his studies, which very soon broke his health and compelled him to seek a mild climate. He arrived in Los Angeles in 1875. His health recovered sufficiently to permit of again entering upon a successful practice, which he held till shortly before death claimed its victim. The floral gifts upon the occasion of the funeral were evidence of the many close and rare friends he made in life and held until death. His remains were followed to rest by a large concourse of our best citizens, the pall-bearers being from the medical fraternity. His faithful mother, who has been devoted to his life, will remain among her large circle of friends in this city. The following is the eulogy pronounced at the funeral services by Rev. J. W. Ellis:

If I were to strictly adhere to what I know to have been the will and the wish of him whose memory we this day hold dear, these exercises would end with the limited burial service. "Quietly and without ostentation lay me in my final resting place" was the spirit and expressed wish of Dr. Charles Churchill Barton. This wish was the outgrowth of that remarkable temperament which he was known to possess. To that exquisite, fine taste given to him by nature, was added a rare and refined culture by education and experience. The instincts of gentle blood and the noble sense of universal human rights combined in him, leading him always to prefer the welfare of others to his own comfort or personal enhancement. This inherent sense of others' advancement led to a wish and preference for his own obscurity.

This rare gem of human quality is an appreciable talent which the higher intellectual elements readily perceive. Because of this you see the choice gifts of those who knew him best, in the floral display around, about, above and beneath the casket, each and all the gift of appreciating friends.

His love for the beautiful and exquisite in nature and art amounted to a passion that never rested or waited for the coming, but led him to seek, and search, and find out, and appropriate.

Such a nature found friends among those who seek for personal enjoyment in the higher sources of human existence. It is seldom that we meet with one who held pretension, or "cant," as he was wont to call it, in such abhorrence. To seem to be what he was not was a fear that ever haunted him. This peculiar trait of character long delayed a profession of faith in he God of his being and the Saviour of his soul.

For many months it was my privilege to know him in a spiritual sense. Although intimate friends, I did not venture to approach his mind upon the doctrines of the Christian religion, until he sought a conversation, and expressed a desire to state his views and hopes. About the first of February last he requested the ordinance of baptism and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, which were administered to him. After that we came to know each other better. His faith was childlike and his hope sure. His daily enjoyments are known only unto her who survives him, to feel a loss that a mother only can realize. My last interview with him was on Sabbath evening last, when we again enjoyed the Sacrament, together with a few friends. To-day his face is peaceful in death. His work is done, and his skill is as so much working force eliminated from human society. There remains but the privilege of expressing the heartfelt gratitude of life bereft heart of a mother to all of the friends, faithful unto and in death. This cannot be expressed by words better than those of the Master: "For as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

A scholarly gentleman, a skilled physician, a beloved son, a true friend, a benefactor of his race and a friend of the poor, and at the last ripening into a man strong in the faith of redeeming grace, is taken from us, and all that is mortal we shall now commit to rest.

It the TIMES readers have noticed a stronger intonation of the "O-r-a-n-g-e-s!" "A-p-p-l-e-s!" "P-e-a-c-h-e-s!" cry emanating from a certain member of the craft that vends these luxuries, let them lay it to the event chronicled elsewhere under the head of "married."

Miss Effie Alexander, of Ventura, is making Miss Lulu W. Campbell, daughter of Rev. J. M. Campbell, a protracted visit. A TIMES reporter has been informed, as a great secret (a little bird, etc.), that these estimable young ladies are having no end of a good time.

A citizen reports the bridge crossing the river between the city proper and East Los Angeles to be in a very bad condition, and growing still more dangerous for the passage of horses and vehicles. This being the case, the proper authorities should see to its repair.

It would appear that since the sickness is abating on the Mohave desert among the miners, the horses are yet to suffer. The San Bernardino Times says that George Worthington, on his last trip to Providence, lost two of his horses, and it is reported that Nadeau has also lost a number lately.

A number of the Turners of this city had a nice drive, via. San Gabriel, to Wilson's Canyon, Sunday, holding a picnic at the latter pleasant locality. After enjoying themselves for a number of hours they returned to the city through Pasadena. Everybody confesses to a good time.

A load of wood on Main street, yesterday afternoon, attracted a great deal of attention from passers by the singular color of its fibre, which was a deep yellow. Speculations were numerous as to the class to which it belonged and its name. No one seemed to be able to positively class it. To the taste it was very bitter.

Mr. J. V. Beck, of this city, brought down from Tuolumne county, a few days since, some specimens of very fine wheat, of the white velvet variety. The heads are about eight inches in length, and while the berry is not very large, it makes the finest and whitest of flour. It might be well to try some of the seed, which may be easily procured, upon our superior Los Angeles wheat lands.

A Villainous Design Frustrated.

[From our Special Correspondent.]

ADONDE, July 30, 8:30 P. M.—This evening, as the eastbound express was a few miles east of Yuma proceeding at the rate of about thirty miles an hour, a torpedo alarm caused a sudden consternation. Upon investigation it proved to be the track watchman's warning of danger ahead from rocks on the track, evidently placed there by some villians who designed to wreck the expected pay car, which was due ahead of the express but had been delayed at Yuma. After a few minutes delay, and a careful look ahead for the next half hour, the locomotive resumed its usual speed. CAMBEO.

FRUIT CANNING.

Large Product of Southern California Canneries.

Los Angeles, San Jose, Riverside and Colton as Fruit Producers and Preservers—Orchards of the Future.

The bulk of the apricot crop has been canned, and peaches are fast being worked up in the Los Angeles cannery. Apricots have been fair throughout the season. The experience of former years has been brought to bear upon methods of work, and this fruit is now handled with vastly less loss than in former years. The Southern California cannery is now canning from 5000 to 8000 cans, daily, fruit, mostly peaches, but as many apricots have been canned this year as of all kinds of fruit last. The total number of cans this season, up to date, is rising 60,000. Beside these, four hundred gallons of apricot jam have been put up, and still more to make.

It is estimated that the apricot crop of Los Angeles county is double that of last year. While the peach crop is estimated at half to two-thirds of a crop, the quality of the same is much superior to that of last year. Grapes give fair promise, and taking into consideration the vastly increased acreage of Los Angeles county the present year over that of last, the grape crop is bound to be immense, as about all dangers to this crop, it is fair to presume, are past. Apples are a fair crop, and the amount of berries and minor fruits has been and is quite satisfactory.

An item published in a Santa Ana paper, and copied into the Semi-Tropic and the TIMES, to the effect that the Southern California Cannery received only such peaches as came up to the standard of four ounces, is incorrect. The cannery will take all peaches weighing from two to four ounces, but producers are expected to grade them, when they will be received as their weight will warrant.

The Riverside Press gives some very satisfactory statistics with reference to apricots in that fertile and fast-becoming great fruit-producing locality, as follows:

"The apricot season now is about closed. Two years ago the entire crop of the valley was about 70 tons. Last year it was 150 tons, and this year it will probably exceed 400 tons. Dr. Jarvis had the heaviest crop, about 75 tons; John B. Crawford had about 60 tons, Chaffey Bros. about 40 tons, and Geo. Crawford about 25 tons. These are among the heaviest producers. Dr. Jarvis estimates his crop next year, if it is a favorable year, at about 200 tons."

The Colton branch of the San Jose Cannery is an establishment of the greatest importance to Colton and San Bernardino. It is a feather in the cap of Mr. Wright, the efficient manager of this cannery, that his establishment carried itself through last year, which was by no means a good one, with such success as to be able to greatly add to the canning facilities of the Colton Cannery, and this season the Semi-Tropic says that they have been putting up from 8,000 to 10,000 cans per day.

The San Jose Mercury has this to say of the apricot crop in the Santa Clara Valley: "Perhaps in no other part of the world does the apricot attain to such perfection as it does in the Santa Clara Valley. Our fruit canneries are now running to their full capacity, and almost exclusively upon this luscious fruit. One cannery, the other day, as the result of one day's run, put up 21,000 cans. Probably the average amount now put up daily by the two San Jose canneries would not fall short of 30,000 cans. This is an immense lot of fruit; but it will all find a ready market."

The Riverside Press says that Dave Turner has already sold from his nursery south of Colton, for next year's planting, 145,000 trees—peach and apricot. San Bernardino county will raise some fruit after a few years.

Police Arrests.

The week opens pretty lively, presenting something of a contrast to last week, the arrests since Saturday at midnight being as follows, as shown by Capt. Cuddy's entries: J. D. W. Young, drunk, arrested by Capt. Cuddy; W. Gagea, drunk, by Capt. Cuddy; Zobost Linder, drunk, Capt. Cuddy; John Doe, drunk again, Celis; Richard Roe, drunk again, Celis; Sylvester Sausceda, drunk and disorderly, Celis; David Longhman, drunk; Horner; another John Doe, drunk another time and disorderly again, Cuddy; Louis Otro, drunk, Davis.

Officers McMahon and Reynolds run in some eight or a dozen vags, some of whom were released on promise to leave town. Capt. Cuddy took Mr. Frank Faulkner for embezzelment. Officer McMahon interrupted David Carter in a fight and brought him along. The same officer "ketched on" to George Doe, a half step-father of John Doe, also for fighting, and John Doe, a cousin of the John hereinbefore metioned, was drunk and asleep, and officer McMahon disturbed his slumbers by hustling him off to the cooler.

Two important drunks on the minor scale at midnight, adorn the tail of yesterday's police work.

The Colored Minstrels.

The Callender Minstrels will positively appear in this city on Friday and Saturday, August 11th and 12th, with matinee on Saturday afternoon. The reason they will not remain here longer is, that they are now on their way to New York to join the Haverly Combination of colored minstrels from Eupore, which will arrive in New York about the 24th inst., making a troupe of one hundred artists—the strongest combination on earth, under one management, and owned by the Frohman Brothers, who already own the Callender Company, and have just purchased Haverly's interest in J. H. Haverly's Colored Mastodons, paying $11,000 for the good will and interest in the same. Osborn promises a rare treat to the citizens of this city next spring if there is a opera house or theater with sufficient stage accommodations to allow of presenting this mammoth minrtrel company.

A Prospector.

He was being shaved opposite the MIRROR office, and had apparently been down the street frequently to "see a man"—behind a bar. He remarked that the devil was dead, and a countryman wanted to know why he wasn't in mourning. He further said he was no relation of the devil, and if anybody should, by so much as an inference, or crookedness of finger, or snap of eye, say he was a liar, he'd be dashed if he wasn't there (that's what he said). He had discovered a salt vein, and nobody took any stock. Now he was after brimstone, and he knew just where to find it. The countryman reckoned he'd find it when he went down to the devil's funeral. (No response.) When the reporter left the man was feeling his hip for something, which move, perhaps, didn't mean anything, but said reporter was in a hurry and passed on.

San Bernardino Abroad.

Our neighbor is strongly represented in Los Angeles and Santa Monica. Her people appreciate healthful resorts. Among those at Santa Monica are Mr. Waterman and family, Waterman pere being the locator and part owner of the rich Waterman mine. Deputy Sheriff James and family, Miss Kate McDonald, Mrs. Ball and children, Miss Nellie Singleton and brother Fred., and a number of others. In the city are W. E. W. and S. H. Lightfoot, registered at the Pico House; Mrs. V. D. Mack and A. H. Crane registered at the St. Charles Hotel. Some of those at Santa Monica intend remaining during the summer.

Bankrupt Stock.

An excellent opportunity is offered, as per announcement of E. Finkelstein in "New To-day," of securing a choice assortment of dry goods and fancy goods just arrived from the East. This is no auction trash, but goods from leading establishments, all new, and of the latest styles. Call and examine them.

CORPORATION VS. CITIZEN.

The Samal Redondo Suit Decided—Victory for the Settlers.

The Supreme Court has decided the ejectment case of the Southern Pacific Railroad against M. L. Bennett, and awarded the land to the settler. This case involves a tract of land immediately south of Los Angeles city. The land was within the Thompson survey of the Rancho Sausal Redondo until October 31st, 1871, and until long after the location of the land of the railroad, but was finally excluded from the grant. Notwithstanding the land was within the exterior limits of a Mexican grant when the line of the railroad was located, the company obtained the United States patent, and brought this suit in ejectment to obtain possession. Will. D. Gould Esq., was employed to defend this important case; and he at once took the ground, and has now successfully established it, that the patent is void, because the land was never granted to the railroad, and that the officers of the Land Department, at Washington, have no jurisdiction or authority to convey title to land which has never been granted by Congress. This doctrine will forever put a period to one of the worst forms of land-grabbing, and ought to have been declared long ago. The law itself is public notice to all the world of what lands are granted, and is the power of attorney, or authority, by which the officers of the Land Department act; and outside of their authority and in violation of law those officers have no jurisdiction or power to convey title to public land. This decision is a very just one, and will save Mr. Bennett his home.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Dr. K. D. Wise is expected to arrive home this evening from his European trip.

Selling Whisky to Indians.

Col. Lawson, Indian Agent, has been quite active in prosecuting those who have been detected in selling whisky to Indians in San Bernardino county. The Times says that he has returned lately from San Francisco, where he has been to prosecute several whisky cases. Two offenders, Le Roy Parrish and another, got six and three months respectively. Mr. Lawson informs us that he has got another batch to take up shortly, and that he intends to put a stop to this nefarious traffic.

Chinamen for the Hawaiian Islands.

Claus Speeckles, the great Hawaiian Island sugar man, has had an agent in this vicinity for the purpose of securing Chinamen to be sent to the Island to work on his sugar plantations there. He secured twenty-four Mongolians, who went up on the Ancon Sunday. The conclusion is that having no direct communication with China and not wishing, perhaps, as many Chinamen as a whole cargo, he has picked up enough on this coast, here and elsewhere, to supply his needs.
